Art Unit: 2814

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 13, 16 and 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 13 the term "good" (all occurrences) is a vague relative term of degree for which the disclosure provides no clear standard for measuring the degree, or it is not apparent if the degree is limited by the disclosure, and one of ordinary skill in the art in view of the prior art and the status of the art would not otherwise be reasonably apprised of the scope of the term.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 13 and 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Cook (5719070).

At column 4, lines 4-63; and column 5, lines 39-41, Cook teaches a device having a chip 48, first electrodes 12 formed on the chip, barrier metals formed on the first electrodes and having laminated structures, and a plurality of second protruded electrodes 22, which serve as external connection terminals, formed on the barrier metals, wherein the barrier metals comprising: a lowermost conductive metal layer 16 laminated on the first electrode, the lowermost conductive metal layer having a cooperatively good joining property with the first electrodes; an intermediate conductive metal layer 18, 20 laminated on the lowermost conductive metal layer, the intermediate conductive metal layer comprising one or more layers and having a comparatively good joining property with the lowermost conductive metal layer, the intermediate conductive metal layer having at least one layer serving as a barrier layer for preventing the protruded electrodes from diffusing into the intermediate conductive layer; and an uppermost gold conductive metal layer 24 laminated on the one or more intermediate conductive metal layers, the uppermost conductive metal layer being made of a material which easily alloys with the material of the intermediate conductive metal layers and which has good resistance to oxidation.

Art Unit: 2814

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claim 17 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Cook (5719070).

Cook is applied for the same reason it was applied to claim 13.

Although Cook does not appear to explicitly teach the particular claimed layer relative weight, at column 5, lines 23-24, Cook teaches that the amount of gold is determined by process constraints. Additionally, it would have been an obvious matter of design choice bounded by well known manufacturing constraints and ascertainable by routine experimentation and optimization to choose this particular relative weight because applicant has not disclosed that the weight is for a particular unobvious purpose, produces an unexpected result, or is otherwise critical, and it appears prima facie that the process would possess utility using another relative weight. Indeed, it has been held that mere range and dimensional limitations are prima facie obvious absent a disclosure that the limitations are for a particular unobvious purpose, produce an unexpected result, or are otherwise critical.
